Contribution For Relief of castle Tornado Victims is Increased to $879.00

MANY SMALL DONATIONS MADE

Country Not Heard From But They Are Expected to Swell Amount Considerably

The Rush county fund for the relief of victims of the Newcastle cy clone was swelled by the addition of $175 today, which brought the total up to $879. There are still several other big contributions to be made so that the total should easily reach one thousand dollars tomorrow.

As yet, Rush county farmers have not been heard from. They are expected to help considerably. They did not have news of the fund until A. M Kinnear..... they received last night's paper this morning.

Walter E. Smith, whose name appears today in front of a contribution of fifteen dollars, was the first one here to donate to help the suffering people, but his name was accidentally omitted yesterday. He was in Newcastle Monday and saw the actual need. Immediately upon arriving home, he telephoned he would like to help.

Among the first contributions reeeived from outside of Rushville was one dollar from Helen Jeanette Innis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rex Innis of Milroy. Her sacrifice. which is expressed in the following letter, is worthy of emulation:

"Dear Mr. Bebout :- I am sending you $1.00 for some little girl in Newcastle. I am thankful it was not us. I think I have had an awful time myself, being in bed since the fourteenth of September."

Cities all over Indiana are comin to the rescue of Newcastle. Funds have been started at Lafavette. Terre Haute, Columbus, Anderson, Shelbyville, Crawfordsville, Marion, Tipton and many other cities.

It practically has been agreed that the American Red Cross Society, Indianapolis chapter, and the Indianapolis Chamber of Commerce shall have supervision of the relief work in this city. The work will be carried out under the direction of tees appointed at a meeting of citi-John J. O'Conner, of Chicago, head zens last night. of the central division of the Red Cross organization. The have yet to be worked out. But it is understood that a trained corps of social workers will make a thorough investigation of the needs of those suffering from the tornado of Sunday, and in the meantime the homeless will be taken care of by the relief committee appointed by Mayor Watkins and other commit-

Bears Distinction Of Being First in State to Donate To Relief Fund.

Dr. Frank H. Green of this city bears the distinction of being the first person in the state or anywhere else for that matter to contribute to the relief of the victims of Sunday's tornado in Newcastle. He went to Newcastle Sunday night to get his niece, Miss Aileen Green. While standing in the lobby of the Bundy hotel he heard Myron R. Green, who was in Newcastle for the Indianapolis News, ask the committee, which had just been appointed, what was most need-The reply was money. Dr. Green then handed the committee ten dollars and said he wanted the distinction of being the first to contribute.

Do Your Share

The people who were in the tornado-swept district of Newcastle Sunday need help and they need it badly. It rests with the people of Rush county whether they do their share. Newcastle is a next-door neighbor of Rush county's. Do your part individually and the community will prove its liberality in this time of distress.

Sinking of Algonquin Confirms Be lief Germany Would Carry War to American Ships

ARMED SHIPS TO BE DEFENSE

By CARL D. GROAT

Washington, March 14 .- Sinking of the American ship Algonquin, unwarned by a submarine, confirmed today the expressed administration belief that Germany would carry her ruthlessness into American shipping but for the moment did not alter the general situation.

Armed ships will venture forth and for the time being at least, will constitute America's defense against Germany's illegal sea methods.

The sinking convinced authorities that they have nothing to hope for in the way of modified procedure or Germany's part.

The Algonquin sailed from New York unarmed when the American ship Rochester started. Her arrival abroad had never been reported.

The Anker-Holth Cream Separator

Is the only Separator on the market that has a SELF-BALANC-ING BOWL and has no lead or soft solder on the inside in order to perfect a BALANCE, which you will find in other makes of Separators. The bowl is guaranteed to stay in balance the life of the machine. The Bowl is Self-draining which makes it nonfreezing in cold weather. It is easy to turn and easy to clean, and can be washed in one-half the time you can wash any other Separator. It has no oil holes or feed cups. It is oiled by an up-todate oil system; you only put oil in every 60 or 90 days. The ANKER HOLTH will skim closer than any other Separator on the market today, which has been proven by tests with other leading Separators and tested by the Babcock cream tester.

It is the only Separator with a dirt chamber that removes all impurities from the whole milk before it enters the discs for cream separation.

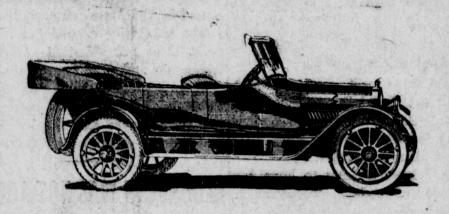

Do not be deceived by false statements by people who claim that the cream and milk will remix. I am not hunting for tests, but I am willing to test with any other Separator made in the world today, and let the Babcock tester be the Judge.

Investigating Commissions.

Investigations are the style in politics now. From Congress down to state legislatures, they're all doing it. Commissioners are renting rol! top desks, hiring stenographers, summoning witnesess, seeing the country and smoking choice cigars (often at tax payer's expense.) Cost of living is the favorite subject now, but the labor question, decline of country life, taxation and many local problems are continually being

Often the only result is publication of a ponderous black covered report that gathers dust in libraries and store rooms. Legislators disnte copies to friends who are pleased to be thus recognized. The eports contain much useful information but there is often such a mass of statistics and conflicting opinion as to leave the subject in a worse fog than before.

Ordering an investigation is a favorite political device. It keeps the public quiet, gives the impression that something is being done and holds down the lid.

The idea of investigation is good. business corporation gives to any new problem the most intensive study and exhaustive tests. But it does not place such investigations in the hands of "lame ducks" out of a

Frequently the reports of these commissions are well arranged, with practical recommendations. But politicians, whose chief interest in distributing plums and pork feel helpless in the presence of big human problems requiring constructive ability. If public interest has died down, the report is apt to be pigeon holed. If the people would elect their servants on a basis of business rather than politics, there would be more investigations that really investigate and fewer reports that merely create paper stock for junk man.

The subjects are particularly timely now with the

"Henry James has a wonderful finish to his writings and as a critic, he is unsurpassed," said Prof. William E. Jenkins in lecturing before the members of the Shakespeare Club and their guests in the library of the court house last evening. "Although I confess I do not understand him, I say these points in favor of Henry James for if I did not have something to say in a constructive way, there would have been no purpose in this lecture.." A large crowd greeted Mr. Jenkins who attracted particular interest with his subject "Henry James, the Psychologist." The next and last lecture of the season in the series will be given April 10 on "Herbert G. Wells, the Socialist."

Interesting points of the life of the writer were dwelt upon by the speaker, who also touched upon his policy and style in writing. "Henry James was born in 1848 and died last year," he said, "Although he was born in this country, he became an English citizen before his death because of his indignation when the United States did not interfere in defense of Belgium. He had spent practically his entire life abroad. His brother, William James, was a writer of psychology and Henry James was a writer of fiction. They should have interchanged their purposes, however, for Henry James dwells at length upon the motives of his characters, their impulses and the workings of their minds.

"The American girl is understood by James and he finds a common type in his book 'Daisy Miller.' It not an extraordinary book but it is original. Europeans cannot understand how one can be so unconventional and yet be so innocent. The girl in this book is puritanical, loyal, and the characterizations given by James are a result of his puritanical instincts," commented the speaker.

"James classes Americans under two classes, the Highbrows and the lowbrows. He cites Jonathan Edwards as an example of the highbrows and Benjamin Frankin as a type of the latter class. He doesn't describe his characters. You can only know them from the impressions they make on other people. He doesn't even seem to be in sympathy with them. In the books of James, ve find Dicken's attitude but never his ability. Dickens, however, was a Royal Baking Powder makes it possible to produce appetizing and wholesome cakes, muffins, cornbread, etc., with fewer eggs than are usually required.

In many recipes the number of eggs may be reduced and excellent results obtained by adding an additional quantity of Royal Baking Powder, about a teaspoon, for each egg omitted. The following tested recipe is a practical illustration:

SPONGE CAKE

1 cup sugar 1/2 cup water 3 eggs 2 teaspoons Royal Baking Powder

1 cup flour 1 teaspoon salt 1/8 cup cold water

1 teaspoon flavoring

DIRECTIONS:—Boil sugar and water until syrup spins a thread and add to the stiffly beaten whites of eggs, beating until the mixture is cold. Silt together three times the flour, salt and baking powder; beat yolks of eggs until thick; add a little at a time flour mixture and egg yolks alternately to white of egg mixture, stirring after each addition. TO AVOID DODGING OF TAXES

Indianapolis, Ind., March 14.-Governor Goodrich, at a meeting with members of the state board of tax commissioners, made suggestions which resulted in drastic changes in methods of procedure of county boards of review throughout the state with regard to the gathering of information on which the valua tion for taxation purposes of the corporations of the state is based.

When the Governor proposed the enactment of an excise tax law to the recent legislature he used as an argument for the passage of the bill the statement that the corporations of the state of Indiana are not bearing their just proportion of the taxes and he cited numerous instances, publicly and privately. o WANTED-to print your wedding the "tax-dodging" of corporations

Washington, March 14.-Warning o American automobile manufacturers to enter the world market before the American market becomes 'saturated," was voiced by Dr. Edward Ewing, Chief of the U. S. Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce today.

"If the production of automobiles continues its present rate of increase," Dr. Pratt warns, "and unless vital changes are effected, either in the consuming public or in the price of automobiles, this 'saturation' point may not be far off. For the commercial vehicle, however, development has probably only begun in this country."

American automobiles would have no difficulty in overcoming competition abroad, except possibly in the higher priced cars-above $1200-Pratt declares. European manufacturers, he said, are not equipped to turn out cars on the extensive and highly efficient basis in effect in the

Walter E. Smith, whose name appears today in front of a contribution of fifteen dollars, was the first one here to donate to help the suffering people, but his name was accidentally omitted vesterday. He was in Newcastle Monday and saw the actual need. Immediately upon arriving home, he telephoned that he would like to help.

Among the first contributions reeved from outside of Anshville was one dollar from Helen Jeanette Innis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rex Innis of Milroy. Her sacrifice, which is expressed in the following letter, is worthy of emulation:

"Dear Mr. Bebout:-I am sending you $1.00 for some little girl in Newcastle. I amthankful it was not us. I think I have had an awful time myself, being in bed since the fourteenth of September."

Cities all over Indiana are coming to the rescue of Newcastle. Funds have been started at Lafayette, Terre Haute, Columbus, Anderson, Shelbyville, Crawfordsville, Marion, Tipton and many other cities.

It practically has been agreed that the American Red Cross Society, Indianapolis chapter, and the ianapolis Chamber of Commerce shall have supervision of the relief work in this city. The work will be carried out under the direction of John J. O'Conner, of Chicago, head of the central division of the Red Cross organization. The details have yet to be worked out. But it is understood that a trained corps of social workers will make a thorough investigation of the needs of those suffering from the tornado of Sunday, and in the meantime the homeless will be taken care of by the relief committee appointed by Mayor Watkins and other commit-

Bears Distinction Of Being First In State to Donate To Rellef Fund.

Dr. Frank H. Green of this city bears the distinction of being the first person in the state or anywhere else for that matter to contribute to the relief of the victims of Sunday's tornado in Newcastle. He went to Newcastle Sunday night to get his niece, Miss Aileen Green. While standing in the lobby of the Bundy hotel he heard Myron R. Green, who was in Newcastle for the Indianapolis News, ask the committee, which had just been appointed, what was most needed. The reply was money. Dr. Green then handed the committee ten dollars and said he granted the distinction of being the first to contribute.

Do Your Share

The people who were in the tornado-swept district of Newcastle Sunday need help and they need it badly. It rests with the people of Rush county whether they do their share. Sinking of Algonquin Confirms Belief Germany, Would Carry War to American Ships

ARMED SHIPS TO BE DEFENSE

By CARL D. GROAT Washington, March 14.-Sinking of the American ship Algonquin, unwarned by a submarine, confirmed today the expressed administration belief that Germany would carry her ruthlessness into American shipping but for the moment did not alter the general situation.

Armed ships will venture forth and for the time being at least, will constitute America's defense against Germany's illegal sea methods.

The sinking convinced authorities that they have nothing to hope for in the way of modified procedure on ALGONOUIN WAS NOT ARMED Germany's part. The Algonquin sailed from New York unarmed when the American ship Rochester started. Her arrival ahroad had never been reported.

The state department had no official word of the torpedoing up to. midforencon.

London, March 14-The American teamer Algonquin, bound for Lonlon and laden with foodstuffs, was torpedoed without warning Monday. All the crew of 23 was saved.

Reports of the torpedoing were ssued by the American consul.

The submarine opened fire from a point three miles distant from the Algonquin and fired twenty shells.

When appealed to the submarine commander refused the request of the survivors to tow the life bonts and left the crew to their fate.

New York, March 14.-The Algonquin sailed from New York February 20. She carried a consignment from Swift and company and a general cargo valued at $1,500,000. The vessel was not armed.

She was formerly in lake traffic and under British registry but was recently transferred to the American Star line, placed under American registry and flew the American flag. There were 23 men in the crew, eleven Americans. Captain Norberg ,a naturalized American, was in charge

Her sailing date indicated she would reach the war zone about March 8. Apparently the cable of the sinking indicates a slower trip.

The witness stated that the game was in operation one Şaturday night in November following the election and also stated that he had visited the Grand Hotel practically every Saturday night for the past year or more.

He testified that on this particular Saturday night there were probably fifty men in the room and that twenty-five were about the "craps" table. He told of seeing many bets made in the game.

On cross-examination Karr testified to having gambled money belonging to his wife and son. He stated that they signed checks payable to him and that he took the money from these checks and gambled at the hotel. Investigating Commissions.

Investigations are the style in politics now. From Congress down to state legislatures, they're all doing it. Commissioners are renting roll top desks, hiring stenographers, summoning witnesses, seeing the country and smoking choice gigars (often at tax payer's, expense.) Cost of living is the favorite subject now, but the labor question, decline of country life, taxation and many local problems are continually being

Ordering an investigation is a favorite political device. It keeps the public quiet, gives the impression that something is being done and holds down the lid.

The idea of investigation is good. business corporation gives to any new problem the most intensive study and exhaustive tests. But it does not place such investigations in the hands of "lame ducks" out of a

Frequently the reports of these commissions are well arranged, with practical recommendations. But politicians, whose chief interest in distributing plums and pork feel helpless in the presence of big human problems requiring constructive ability. If public interest has died down, the report is apt to be pigeon holed. If the people would elect their servants on a basis of business rather than polities, there would be more investigations that really investigate and fewer reports that merely create paper stock for the junk man.

STOP CATARRH! OPEN NOSTRILS AND HEAD

Says Cream Applied in Nostrila Relieves Head-Colds at Once.

If your nostrils are clogged and your head is stuffed and you can't breathe freely because of a cold or catarrh, just get a small bottle of Ely's Gream Bakm at any drug store. Apply a little of this fragrant, antiseptic cream into your nostrils and let it penetrate through every air passage of your head, soothing and healing the inflamed, swollen mucous membrane and you get instant relief.

Ah! how good it feels. Your nos-trils are open, your head is clear, no more hawking, snuffling, blowing; no more headache, dryness or struggling for breath. Ely's Cream Balm is just what sufferers from head colds and ca-tarrhineed. It's a delight.

The all day meeting of the Sorosis Club held with Mrs. J. T. Paxton at her home in West Seventh street yesterday was a busy as well as an interesting one. In the morning shortly after the eleven members had gathered, the election of officers for the coming club year took place with the following result. Mrs. Saxon, who has been president of the club for nine years ever since its organization and never missed a meeting, was re-elected to the presidency; Mrs. Elmer Caldwell was made vice-president; Mrs. Britt of Glenwood was re-elected secretary; and Mrs. C. M. George was elected treasurer. The official board also appointed the club committees for membership, program and social phases. Pretty St. Patrick's decorations were on the table where the elegant pitch-in dinner was spread. Favors of shamrocks on tiny pipes were given the guests.

The Shakespearean program consisted of a very interesting paper by Mrs. Walther on "Shakespeare's Time and Life Story." Mrs. Freda Saxon deals with the three different styles of plays "Tragedies, Come-dies, and Historical Plays." Responses to the roll were given with quotations from Shakespeare. The next meeting of the club will be with Every member of the Home Economics Club who intends to remain in the club next year is asked either to attend the meeting to be held at the court house in the assembly room on Saturday afternoon at 2:30 or to notify the secretary or president of the club before them. A very interesting program is arranged for the meeting Saturday afternoon. The first paper is to be on "Flies and Food" by Mrs. Carl Nipp. Mrs. Clarence Carney will deal with "The Care of Vegetables and Fruit" and Mrs. Charles Newhouse will have for her subject "The Care of Meats and Poultry." The subjects are particularly timely now with the approach of spring.

"Henry James has a wonderful finish to his writings and as a critic, he is unsurpassed," said Prof. William E. Jenkins in lecturing before the members of the Shakespeare Club and their guests in the library of the court house last evening. 'Although I confess I do not understand him, I say these points in favor of Henry James for if I did not have something to say in a constructive way, there would have been no purpose in this lecture.." A large crowd greeted Mr. Jenkins who attracted particular interest with his subject "Henry James, the Psychologist." The next and last lecture of the season in the series will be given April 10 on "Herbert G. Wells, the Socialist."

Interesting points of the life of the writer were dwelt upon by-the speaker, who also touched upon his policy and style in writing. "Henry James was born in 1848 and died last year," he said, "Although he was born in this country, he became an English citizen before his death because of his indignation when the United States did not interfere in defense of Belgium. He had spent practically his entire life abroad. His brother, William James, was a writer of psychology and Henry James was a writer of fiction. They should have interchanged their purposes, however, for Henry James dwells at length upon the motives of his characters, their impulses and the workings of their

"The American girl is understood by James and he finds a common type in his book 'Daisy Miller.' It is not an extraordinary book but it is original. Europeans cannot understand how one can be so unconventional and yet be so innocent. The girl in this book is puritanical, loyal, and the characterizations given by James are a result of his puritanical instincts," commented the speaker.

"James classes Americans under two classes, the Highbrows and the lowbrows. He cites Jonathan Edwards as an example of the highbrows and Benjamin Frankin as a type of the latter class. He doesn't describe his characters. You can only know them from the impressions they make on other people. He doesn't even seem to be in sympathy master of characterization,' tinued Prof. Jenkins.

"James was a marvelous critic He always seems to find exactly the right word in commenting upon writers. He criticized H. G. Wells to such an extent that Wells responded to his criticisms with a book, Did the Butler Know?' a very clever satire on the style of James, in which Wells dwells at length upon the impulses, the workings of the mind and the eternal question, Did the Butler Know?'

"In England, something that he longed for, that something that he longed for, that something that can only be shown MANSFIELD TALKS by things that are not new and that show a polish of age. He realized everything in this country was so vividly new and he craved the style and attitude of the English. He was a favorite in English society although he was never popular generally."

o'clock, the members of the Eastern Stor will be entertained at a sewing party in the parlors of the Masonic Temple. A pleasant social afternoon is anticipated and all of the members are urged to be present.

About fifty people were entertained at dinner at the K, of P, hall at noon today by the Pythian Sisters who are observing Home Coming Day. The guests included the Pythian Sisters and their families. An elegant dinner was served and the long tables were prettily decorated: This evening the banquet will be served, following which there will be an interesting program, the nature of which as not been disclosed.

The two meetings of the Immaculata Sodality held last evening were ery well attended. The first and second divisions were entertained at the home of Miss Margaret Kelly in West First street, there being about 15 members there. The evening was busily spent in completing articles for the bazaar to be held after Easter. Seven members of the third division spent a busy evening as the guests of Miss Marie Schrichte. Royal Baking Powder makes it possible to produce appetizing and wholesome cakes, muffins, cornbread, etc., with fewer eggs than are usually required.

In many recipes the number of eggs may be reduced and excellent results obtained by addingan additional quantity of Royal Baking Powder, about a teaspoon, for each egg omitted. The following tested récipe is a practical illustration:

Automobile Manufacturers Told to Get Ready to Invade Europe After War.

HAVE TO FIND NEW FIELDS

Washington, March 14.—Warning o American automobile manufacurers to enter the world market be fore the American market becomes 'saturated," was voiced by Dr. Edward Ewing, Chief of the U.S. Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce today.
